Justification pointing out that an OCR-based RS was used and providing non RS-specific the best features of the restaurant based on its reviews

Why this recommendation?

Based on your preferences and reviews from previous guests, we recommend Pho 88 Noodle. This is a great choice, because in their reviews, previous guests praise the good quality of Asian food and highlight the good quality of vegetarian food and salads as well as the good quality of bread.

See what others have written about the recommended restaurant Pho 88 Noodle :

Linda

„Pho 88 Haiku: Ph Gà, perfect meal Each hot bowl comforts me so. Still fucking LOVE it. PS Service has improved over the past year-yay! Last several visits, no culantro-boo.“

Renee

★★★★☆

„I was very impressed with the Pho here. There are so many places around this town that serve up a hot and steamy bowl of Pho, but many just don't hit the spot. This place is a must if you are in the downtown area and you have a hankering for some fresh vegetables.“

Panera Bread
Orlando

Recommendation using the product description-based RS

Explanation pointing out that a product description-based RS was used and providing RS-specific information about the features that lead to the recommendation as well as a counterfactual reasoning

Why this recommendation?

Based on your preferences and the restaurant descriptions, we recommend Panera Bread. Why? Because the recommended restaurant advertises itself as a great place for vegetarian food and salads, bread, and sweet food and desserts in its description had the highest impact on this recommendation. The tipping point why exactly this restaurant (and not a restaurant with a similar description) was recommended is the value you assigned to the attribute Asian food. If you were more interested in Asian food (by 1.6 points) we would recommend Thai House of Orlando instead, as this restaurant does advertise Asian food but advertises less of other relevant attributes.

Explanation pointing out that an OCR-based RS was used and providing RS-specific information about the features that lead to the recommendation as well as a counterfactual reasoning

Why this recommendation?

Based on your preferences and the reviews from previous guests, we recommend Pho 88 Noodle. Why? Because in their reviews, previous guests praise the good quality of vegetarian food and salads, the good quality of bread, and the good quality of sweet food and desserts. With your stated preferences, these attributes had a positive influence on the recommendation. However, what tipped the scales in favor of Pho 88 Noodle (and not another restaurant with similar reviews) is the value you assigned to the attribute fast food. If you were more interested in fast food (by 2.1 points) we would recommend Ethos Vegan Kitchen instead, as the feedback of its guests is even more enthusiastic about the attribute fast food, but less positive about other relevant attributes.
